GOOD DESIGN
STORIES FROM HERMAN MILLER
November 21, 2009–January 17, 2010
Good Design: Stories From Herman Miller explores the problem-solving design process of the world-renowned furniture company, Herman Miller, Inc. The exhibition features selections from The Herman Miller Design Collection—an archive of the company’s innovative processes and products, most of which have never been on public view.

PANEL DISCUSSION
Good Design Stories
Thursday, December 3, 6:30 PM, 144 McNeal Hall
Join College of Design Dean Tom Fisher and three panelists as they discuss the design process and the ability of design to address the problems of today’s society. Organized by the Friends of GMD; reception following

PANELISTS
- John Berry, author and exhibition curator
- Jeff Scherer, principal of Meyer, Scherer, & Rockcastle Ltd., designer of the Herman Miller Design Yard and Front Door
- Jeff Weber, principal of Studio Weber + Associates, designer of the Embody Chair

Good Design: Stories From Herman Miller was organized for national tour by the Muskegon Museum of Art, Michigan, founded in 1912 as a division of the Muskegon Public Schools. The exhibition was created in collaboration with The Henry Ford in Dearborn, Michigan, through the generous support of Herman Miller, Inc. The exhibition was curated by John Berry, Holland; coordinated by Timothy Chester, Grand Rapids; designed by Judy Hillman and Barb Loveland, Hillman Associates, Saugatuck; and fabricated by Vincent Faust, Kalamazoo.

Lead Sponsor
Room & Board
Home Furnishings

Major Sponsor
Studio Weber + Associates

Sponsors
Meyer, Scherer & Rockcastle, Ltd.
Design Within Reach
Julie Snow Architects, Inc.

Additional funding provided by Herman Miller, Inc.
Friends of GMD
The College of Design.

The University of Minnesota is an equal opportunity educator and employer.
To request disability accommodations or to receive this publication/material in alternative formats please contact Goldstein Museum of Design, 364 McNeal Hall, 612-624-7434.
Printed on recycled and recyclable paper with at least 10 percent post-consumer material.
goldstein.design.umn.edu